

one dozen at $1.00; 50 copies at $3.00; 100 copies at $5.00. And let us hear from you on the first part of this communication by return of Mail; on the latter part, in one month.

Yours respectfully,

Wm. H. Haywood Jr

---

Chairman.

N. B. If you will not pledge yourself for $20, how far will you go?

I send you this from Newbern, but you will address me at Raleigh.

From James Graham.

U.

Washington City, January 19th, 1834.

* * * * *

The Deposite Question is still under discussion and likely to continue some time yet. Every thing which appertains to regulating or controuling the currency is difficult and delicate and but few of our most talented men understand it's practical operation and effects and therefore but few speeches are to the point.

Mr. Binny has made a very able speech, it was rather too prolix and he dwelt too much on details but he is a most able and amiable man.

I dined on Tuesday last with the President; a large company sat down to the table at candle light, and such a variety and profusion and costly table furniture I have never seen. On this evening I am going to take my dinner with Mr. McLean.

I have been 2 nights at the Theatre. Miss Fanny Kemble has commanded the whole city to witness her winning and bewitching manners and highly gifted powers.

* * * * *

Genl. Saunders<sup>11</sup> has returned and is much pleased that the Prisoner was acquitted and that he still Atto. Gen.

---

<sup>11</sup> Burton Craige had offered a resolution declaring the office of attorney general vacant, because of the acceptance of Romulus M. Saunders of the federal post of commissioner for the French Spoliation Claims. Graham, as chairman of a committee to investigate the question, wrote the report declaring him entitled to his office.